BG Controls expands with new North West office

Building controls expert BG Controls has reinforced its Systems Support arm of the business by opening a dedicated service and maintenance office in Preston.

BG Controls currently employs around 65 staff across its three other offices in Rotherham, Burton and Belfast, providing building and energy management systems, remote monitoring, electrical installation, technical support and maintenance of building controls installations nationwide.

The new office, based at Albert Edward House in The Pavillions, Preston, will help the building controls expert to further support its engineers in the region, and to serve an increasing amount of its business in the North West.

“Preston is the ideal base for our new service and maintenance office,” says Phil Bolus, Director for BG Systems Support Ltd. “Many of our engineers are based in the North West and the new office will support them and their customers in turn.

“Now more than ever, customers want a reliable systems integrator that can deliver choice of control systems, delivered on time and on budget. By applying the experience of our engineering teams and by strengthening our national network we can be sure these expectations are met.”

The Preston office marks the continued expansion of the business, which opened a Northern Ireland division in Belfast last year.
